New Obleans, Jan. 2—The local betting ring and the poolrooms throughout America would have received a severe scorching had would have received a severe scorening had Belvino been returned the winner in the fourth race. He was played down from 15 to 1 to 4 to 1. He was only beaten a scant half length by St. Tammany, the favorite. The improvement that Belvino showed was start-ling. The talent managed to select five out of six winners. It was by far the best day

In that event, however, another trophy will be provided. Yesterday's pairing was as follows. Hicks, Brown, vs. Addleman, Pennsylvania: Easton, Brown, vs. Rand, Cornell, and Mitchell, Cornell, vs. Smyth, Pennsylvania.

Mitchell set the ball rolling for Cornell by defeating Easton in a Sicilian defence after fifty-one moves. Having had the more advantageous position in the endgame stage he made good use of his opportunities. Rand at one time hardly pressed, eleverly turned the tables upon his antagonist and won in thirty-nine moves.
At that stage Cornell had already assumed thirty-nine moves.

At that stage Cornell had already assumed the lead in the tournament and naturally intense interest centred upon the game played on the first board between Hicks and Addleman. The Brown man injudiciously had advanced his king's pawn too far in the course of a French defence adopted by Addleman and had no means to come to the rescue of his exposed outpost. Here was the chance for Pennsylvania, but Addleman allowed Hicks to occupy a commanding position with one of his rooks. Addleman won the exposed pawn, but could derive no cuse quickly lost the ball on a fumble. Orange, dreth to-day for $3.000.

The stewards are still busy with the Hicks case. Torn Hatfield and Wright, a silent partner in the firm of Hatfield & Ownsby, were examined to-day. E. K. Wheeler, owner, and J. Baker, trainer of Belvino, were before the stewards after the races. Wheeler asserted that he het heavily on Belvino the last time he started and was not a bit pleased with the race he ran. He also said that he did not bet on the horse to-day.

The opening race produced a number of good things; about the warmest of the eleven that went to the post was the fastern filly Tlogs, by Tenhy. She opened up a 129 to be but very few got on at that price. She was played down to 7 to 2. Tlogs won in a hard drive by a length from Gloria Mundi, who was also played for a good thing, being backed from 20 to 1 to 8 to 1.

Alpaca was the choice for the second race. Alpaca was the choice for the second race. Alpaca was the choice for the place by a head from the good thing, Jim King, who was played from 10 to 1 to 4 to 1, at post time.

It remained for the third race, in which the poorest lot of horses at the track contested for the purse, to put up the best finish of the afternoon. The lirst seven horses at the finish were under a drive and all were ready to stop. The winner was Ben Frost, who was ridden by a stable boy, named Morper and played down from 50 to 1 to 30 to 1. He got home a length to the good and staggering. Next came Robert 6. Lansing, who was stagering and bumping late everything near him. He secured the place by a neck from Malster.

aubscriptions from military officers and civilians, and each subscriber is furnished with seats according to the supply. The seats are first distributed in equal lots to West Point, Annapolis and the University of Pennsylvania, the game being played on the grounds of the university. No tickets are sold by authority of any one of the colleges but when allotted, are then distributed to the subscribers.

So scarce are these tickets just before a game that they have been known to sell for $10 and $20 each, and persons who have tried in vain to secure them from either the War or Navy departments have only been able to secure admission to the game by purchasing their tickets from speculators. Investigation has shown that persons entitled to tickets by distribution have on several occasions placed them on sale, and last fall a detective employed by the athletic associations traced some tickets so disposed of to a very paminent officer.

The only plan considered at all practical by the officials of the Academy is to place the tickets on sale and, after deducting the expenses of the football teams, use the proceeds for the benefit of needy officers and enlisted men of the army and navy.

The All-Syracuse eleven, which experts have pronounced one of the strongest com-binations of football talent ever gotten together, won the indoor football chi at the Madison Square Garden last night by defeating the Orange A. Bottger made ten yards through the right wing and Hawley Pierce got two in the same place. Mason, too, went past the right end for four and Draper gathered two. With three yards to go Mason made the ground, but the play did not count, although Syrncuse received a five-yard penalty for off side play. Draper was soon in evidence with a clever run of seven yards, Bill Warner following with a buil-like plunge for four. The ball was on the lo-yard line, and Hawley Pierce, on a delayed pass, got the leather five yards nearer the goal line. Then Bottger made the second touchdown, from which O'Neill kicked another goal—12 to 0.'

On Roller's kick off Bottger was deftly tackled by Clark on his 1s-yard line. Mason came through the centre for four yards after which the Syracuse players, warming to the work, ripped open the Orange defence, in great style. Mason was prevented from making a sure touchdown by reason of Hambacker's good tackle on the 3-yard line, but the next moment Mason accomplished his purpose by rushing the oval across the line. O'Neill goaled easily and the score was 18 to 0.

Mason caught Roller's kickoff and ran back fifteen yards. Draper then unexpectedly punted fifty yards down the field in clever style, inking his kick close behind the line. The Orange backs pluckily attacked the opponents' powerful defence for several short gains, but Bill Warner soon broke through and nailed the ball on a fumble on the sixteen-yard line.
